“ Agapito was always nice to me... heck he was nice to everyone!!! He was a great man, great husband to his wife and an even better father to his children. I always felt welcomed in his house. The De Leon house was the place to be when I grew up. And none of that would have been possible without Agapito's understanding and love for his children. I always admired him for that.. God has good man on his hands now. You will be missed sir.
