“ Grandma , you taught me so Much in my life. You taught me how to pray, how to cook pies and cookies. You taught me the our father prayer, you taught me how to be so forgiving. I'm gonna miss playing pokeeno with you, noone left your house with an empty tummy, or without getting a hug, or you saying "I love you god bless take care" . Your so strong for holding on but it was your time. God saw you getting tired, so he put his arms around you and took you to the kingdom of heaven. Things are gonna be so different now. I already miss hearing your sweet soft voice. I'm gonna miss you yelling at me eating all your oatmeal cookies. I'm always gonna treasure our memories that's all I have now. So much of me is what I learned from you, your always gonna be in my heart forever. I now have a guardian angel in heaven , i call her grandma. I Love you. May you rest In Power. 💪❤️

“ Grandma, (not by blood but you would never know)...Thank you for being a very inspirational and strong influence in my life for more than 20 years and in the lives of my children who love you so very much...I will never forget our talks when I would go visit with you...how you would bake me a cake for my birthday when I lived next door and the big cookies you would bake for my kids...and how I could call you anytime and ask you for a recipe and you would give it to me...I have nothing but wonderful memories of you...from pokeeno games, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter Sundays, crocheting...the list goes on and on...I will NEVER forget you!!! You showed me nothing but love and respect from the moment I first walked into your house when I was 17 years old...I'm going to miss you...and I'm going to miss your voice...love you always...until we meet again ❤️❤️❤️

“ My Grandmother was the best woman I have ever known. She was the root from which my family sprouted out from. There are many things my Grandmother has done to list here on this page would take a lifetime. She has left a impression on my life so profound that I will always carry it with me until the day I die. I will remember all the things she had taught me and keep them close to my heart.

*Grandma I will miss you on Thanksgiving, making lemon meringue pies and stuffing with you. I will miss you on your birthdays and on Christmas, fighting over making tamales and how many cookies I could eat while we were baking. I'm going to miss you during Lent sitting next to me at mass. But above all I think I'm going to miss your voice. That voice that could chastise us when we are wrong or offer blessings and prayers to make us feel better. But I know you are at peace now resting in heaven with no pain to hurting your body. Just look down on us from time to time and send your prayers to us. So I leave you Grandma with your own words:
Goodnight, God Bless You, I Love You....always and forever.*
